Logistics Solutions

Important logistics hubs and functions:

11.000 kilometres of modernised streets are available for freight transport. A modern traffic infrastructure connects Saxony-Anhalt with pan-European roads. 600 kilometres of navigable waterways connect 18 ports and transshipment points. Magdeburg's port is the largest inland port of Central Germany and provides a tri-modal container terminal for combined traffic. 3,100 km of railway tracks constitute one of the world's most dense railway systems. The airport Leipzig/Halle is the second-largest air freight hub in Germany.

Lighthouse:

There is a modern tri-modal container terminal for combined traffic in Magdeburg's port. From the airport Leipzig/Halle – the European DHL distribution hub – 58 airports in 34 countries in four continents are approached around the clock, 365 days of the year.
